FINDING YOUR INNER GODDESS

Special poetry event with Marjorie Power
 Saturday, May 19, 2-4 p.m.

A member of DWPC since 2016, Marjorie Power is the author of "Seven Parts Woman," a full length poetry collection, and six poetry chapbooks from small presses. A new full length collection, "Oncoming Halos," is forthcoming late this year.

The idea for this event sprang from conversation at the DWPC member meet-up this past January. Join Marjorie as she reads a few of her poems from "Tishku, After She Created Men" (this chapbook will be available for $5) and leads some fun writing exercises designed to uncork your own inner goddess. Or come just to listen and chat. Members and guests welcome. RSVP to Marjorie Power at marpow47@outlook.com.

"What a Character" book release and workshop with Bonnie McCune, Suzanne Young, and Kathleen Duhamel
 Sunday, May 20, 2018, 1:30 - 3:30 p.m.

Dear Characters in my Book,

 Please figure out
 what to do next.
 (Soonish, if you don't mind.)

 Love,

 Your Author

"What a Character!" features three DWPC novelists who discuss their work with a special emphasis on character development.

Kathleen Duhamel is a contemporary women's fiction writer of the Deep Blue Trilogy (Deep Blue, Deeper, Deep End) She wrote and illustrated her first short story at the age of eight and has been a writer for most of her life during varied career as a newspaper journalist and editor, public relations executive, and freelance travel writer.

Bonnie McCune writes women's fiction that provides a fresh look at age-old issues and debates contemporary concerns. After a career in public relations and freelancing, she has turned her talents to fiction writing. In her newest, Never Retreat, a single mom clashes with a macho corporate star at a business retreat in the wild Colorado mountains.

Suzanne Young is the best-selling author of the Edna Davies mystery series which put her on Amazon's list of "top 100 authors of mystery" for five consecutive months. Her latest cozy mystery, The Wrong Coat, introduces new women amateur sleuths.

Join three accomplished DWPC authors in celebration of their exciting new book releases and take a deep dive into the craft of character development. Open to the public with RSVP. For more information and to RSVP, contact Bonnie McCune: bonnie@bonniemccune.com

BOOK LAUNCH!

DWPC member Suzanne Young's 7th mystery novel, The Wrong Coat, was released last month. This is the first of a new series, taking place in Colorado. Beryl Fishen and Nadine Rodd, residents in a Colorado retirement community, attend a local theater. After the performance, Beryl is handed the wrong coat, one that is much shabbier than her own, and she quickly realizes the swap was no mistake. Read more . . .

MICRO THEATER FINALIST!

Congrats to DWPC Past President Kim Millett, whose short play, "Rats Who Eat Butterflies," is a finalist in the DCPA's 2018 micro theater contest. The play will be read by professional actors later this year, in conjunction with "Bite Size: An Evening of Micro Theater."

Speaking of Theater! DWPC member and playwright extraordinaire Linda Berry's performance piece, "Three Cities," will be part of One Night Stand Theater's program focused on world travel on June 3, and her short play, "Photo Op," will be featured in And Toto too Theater Company's play crawl on Wednesday, June 13. For more information, contact Linda Berry: jerryberry@juno.com

FEELING CRAFTSY?

Our Jewelry Queens Hilary DePolo and Mary Van Meter invite you to join the fun! May 23, 2018, 10:00 a.m. - noon

The Jewelry Sale Committee is going to try something new this year. We are going to repurpose some of the beautiful clip earring into bookmarkers and other innovative ideas. These new items will be for sale at our November event. We would enjoy your company and skills. Please let Hilary DePolo know if you will be able to attend: hilary@artconsultation.com. Thank you and we look forward to working with you.
