Meet & Greet..... Melody Jones

DWPC Vice President of Communications and social media guru

Virtual Event via ZOOM

Thursday, July 9, 6:00 - 6:30 pm

Grab a cocktail or a club soda and come meet Melody Jones, who oversees our communications operations, including expanding our presence on social media. We'll chat about her ideas (and yours) about how DWPC can better utilize and enhance our communications tools - website, emails, and Facebook - during the current 'shelter at home' pandemic. We look forward to connecting with all of you at the second of our regular online "meet and greets."

The DWPC Jewelry Sale is a fundraiser for the club's scholarship fund, which provides financial support to young women studying writing and journalism.

In the hopes that we can hold our Jewelry Sale this November, we are continuing to collect items throughout the summer. If you have any beads or baubles you'd like to donate, please contact Mary Van Meter, vanmeternt@aol.com.

If members would like to help Mary by being a location drop-off point or a pick-up person, please let her know. The plan is to divide the metro area into quadrants to make jewelry donation easy since the clubhouse is closed.

PLEASE BE ADVISED THE DWPC CLUBHOUSE IS CLOSED TO EVENTS UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.

But feel free to drive by and look at our gorgeous front yard!

Contact Marilyn Harmacek, mharmacek@comcast.net, for questions.

Announcements From The DWPC Community

DWPC is thrilled to report that Fort Collins member Charlotte Hinger's historical novel, The Healer's Daughter is a finalist for the High Plains Book Award. The winner will be announced at their virtual ceremony in September. <https://www.highplainsbookawards.org/>

It is set in the African-American town of Nicodemus, Kansas during the 1880s and is based on the true historical account of the first time in American history that blacks prevailed against whites in county politics.

For more information about the novel, contact Charlotte Hinger:
www.charlottehinger.com

What ISN'T going on at the historic Griffins Keep hotel? Hotel historian Rebecca Bridger, determined to preserve the beloved landmark as the spiritual portal it was designed to be, enlists the aid of friendly ghosts, psychic mediums, Knights Templar and Freemasons, menopausal magic, and even the Denver Woman's Press Club!

Writing as Claryn Vaile, DWPC member Debra Faulkner based her new novel, Ghost Tour, on a triangular downtown Denver icon that locals will recognize immediately.

Pre-order now for a 30% discount off the cover price at <http://www.dxvaros.com/ghost-tour>. Pre-ordered copies will ship in early September - just in time for spooky season!

Four months before the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, Mildred McClellan Melville, a past DWPC president, predicted the war would come to the United States. And come it did. In Colorado Women in World War II, DWPC member Gail Beaton interweaves oral histories and historical photographs to give a rare look at how the war profoundly transformed the women of this state and how these women stepped up and served their country, from ammunition plants to hospitals to sugar beet fields.

You can preorder now at www.upcolorado.com. Use promo code BEAT20 to get 40% off. The book will ship in August.

New DWPC member Mimi Pockross is featured in this spring's edition of Colorado Heritage, the magazine of History Colorado, with her article, "How Two Colorado Women Brought a Play About an Invisible Rabbit to Broadway and Won a Pulitzer Prize." The article highlights the relationship between two extraordinary Denverites - Mary Coyle Chase, the playwright who wrote Harvey, and Antoinette Perry, best known as the namesake for the Tony award and the original director of Harvey.

Mary Chase was a lifetime honorary member of the Denver Women's Press Club. Her biography, Pulling Harvey Out of Her Hat: The Amazing Story of Mary Coyle Chase, written by Mimi, will be published in the fall of this year. Watch for announcement of her book virtual
